Dear Sandra:

I guess I'm in big trouble. Last Sunday evening, my boyfriend and I went to the movies together. We waited for my classmates, Betty and Ken, in front of the Great World Theater. At that time, a terrible thing happened. My parents walked by. They saw us holding hands, but they just walked away without saying a word to me.

Now they still say nothing about my boyfriend. I know they want me to stop going out with him. I tried to talk to them, but they didn't give me any chance. I don't want to say goodbye to my boyfriend. He treats me nicely and kindly. Most important of all, he is very smart and he always helps me with my schoolwork. I don't think my parents are right. They always say having a boyfriend means poor grades. Why do my parents only see my GRADES, not my NEEDS? So what can I do? Do I need to talk to my parents once more?
----Sad Girl

5. ( ) What is Sad Girl's big trouble?
(A) Her parents don't want her to have a boyfriend.
(B) She can't go to a movie with her friends.
(C) Her boyfriend wants to stop going out with her.
(D) Her parents are not happy about her grades.
6. ( ) Which of the following most likely comes from Sad Girl's parents?
(A) "I felt so sorry for her. She must be very worried about it. As her best friend, I could do nothing. I could only listen to her worries."
(B) "What if she doesn't do well on tests? She can't lose her interest in studying. Remember, she is a student, not a princess in love."
(C) "She really needs to talk to her boyfriend. If her boyfriend is serious about her, he should stop going out with other girls."
(D) "Maybe she should stop helping her boyfriend with his homework for a few days. Let the fire cool down first."
7. ( ) A week later, Sandra wrote back to Sad Girl. Which of the following is most likely Sandra's letter?
- (A)

Dear Sad Girl, It's never too late to talk to them. Give yourself some time, and try to find more chances to talk. If they don't let you talk, try to write a note to them. True friends know your heart. That's what friends are for. Believe me.
---
- (B)

Dear Sad Girl, When you write this letter to me, you have the answer in your heart already. Don't be afraid to do the right thing. Ask your teacher and classmates. I believe they will help you like your parents do.
---
- (C)

Dear Sad Girl, Winning someone's heart back doesn't mean you have to cry. Love is not about winning. Loving someone sometimes means you have to let it go. Remember, you are a good girl. If he doesn't know that, other boys will.
--
- (D)

Dear Sad Girl, Of course you should talk to them one more time! Tell them you will keep on working hard at school although you are in love. If they care about grades only, tell them you're doing better in your schoolwork with the boy's love and help.

Traveling to some countries in Europe, you may be surprised at the food. The food has become popular these years. Take a close look at what you eat; you might be eating bugs! More and more countries in Europe and American are trying to make insects a part of their diet. For some countries, eating insects has been in their food culture for a long time. If you don't eat insects, you may have to do so soon.

Scientists have said that eating insects may be the best way to save the population. There will be more than 9 billion people in the world by 2050. We won't have enough food for everyone by then if we keep producing food the way we do now. Insects are easy to be raised and are rich in protein. What's more, they're eco-friendly. Insects need less food and water than cows, but they have more protein. That means you use the same water and food, but you get a lot more protein from insects. Also, they give out less gas than cows do. They may be an important food in the future.

For most people, they have never eaten insects, and it may be hard to take a bite of the bugs on their plates. So, cooks are trying hard to make insects look delicious. For example, they make insects into burgers and meatballs. Give them a try! You'll love it!
